Investment Overview

The Opportunity

Matthews™ is pleased to exclusively present for sale 113–115 Wales Ave, Jersey City, NJ, a newly constructed six-unit multifamily investment opportunity located in the highly desirable Journal Square neighborhood. Built in 2015, the asset is 100% free market and currently operating at a 6.55% cap rate. The property features a strong unit mix of two- and three-bedroom apartments, each offering large layouts averaging $\pm 1,333$ square feet. Units include in-unit washer/dryers, stainless steel appliances, granite countertops, oversized closets, and central HVAC, along with private outdoor space for each unit. The property also offers four garage parking spaces in addition to two dedicated parking spaces per unit. Tenants are responsible for heat, hot water, cooking gas, and electric, while ownership covers water and sewer.

The property is strategically located approximately a 17-minute walk to the Journal Square Station, which provides a 12-minute train ride directly to Midtown Manhattan via the PATH. Making the property an ideal option for commuters seeking convenient access to New York City. The building also benefits from convenient access to major highways including Route 1&9, I-95, and I-78, with Newark Liberty International Airport just minutes away.

Journal Square in Jersey City continues to emerge as one of Hudson County's most transit-oriented and rapidly evolving rental submarkets, driven by exceptional PATH connectivity, strong residential demand, and immediate access to Manhattan. Anchored by the Journal Square Transportation Center, the neighborhood offers direct, efficient commutes to both Midtown and Downtown, making it highly attractive to renters. As housing costs rise across nearby urban cores, Journal Square has become an increasingly appealing option for those seeking more space and relative value. Supported by significant redevelopment activity and a growing base of new residential and mixed-use projects, the area demonstrates strong rental fundamentals and remains a compelling multifamily investment market.

Neighborhood Overview Journal Square

Journal Square in Jersey City has steadily transformed into one of the most prominent transit-oriented districts in Hudson County, driven by its concentration of infrastructure and ongoing redevelopment activity. Anchored by the Journal Square Transportation Center, the neighborhood provides direct PATH access to Manhattan while maintaining a dense, urban environment compared to other parts of the city. The district has seen notable population growth supported by renters and professionals seeking accessibility and relative affordability with convenient connections to New York City via PATH service, NJ Transit bus routes, and surrounding arterial roadways.

Commercial corridors around the plaza expand with a mix of national retailers, local businesses, and dining establishments, supporting foot traffic and neighborhood activity. Significant residential development, including high-rise construction and adaptive reuse projects, signals strong investor interest in the area. With ongoing projects and limited prime sites, Journal Square has experienced consistent rent gains and upward pressure on property values. Its location combined with transit connectivity and amenities positions it as a competitive multifamily submarket within Jersey City.

Economic Drivers

Jersey City combines income growth with strategic location as a commuter and economic hub.

Immediate access to major highways, proximity to Manhattan, and port/transportation infrastructure amplify Jersey City's growth potential.

Economic Drivers

Jersey City leverages its closeness to New York City, strong transportation infrastructure (including ports, highways, and public transit), and a growing base of professional, finance, and tech employment. Institutions like New Jersey City University, Saint Peter's University, and Hudson County Community College contribute to a skilled labor pool. Additionally, expanding residential and mixed-use development continues to draw investment.

Primary Industries

- Finance, insurance, real estate, and corporate services
- Professional, scientific, tech services
- Retail and accommodation / food services
- Transportation / logistics (ports, highways)

Top Employers

- Major hospital and healthcare systems
- Universities (NJCU, Saint Peter's, Hudson Community College)
- Financial institutions and corporate offices
- Transportation & logistics firms

Recent Developments

- Ongoing improvements to highway and exit ramp connections (Routes 440 / 185) that serve Greenville.
- Residential redevelopment in formerly industrial zones.
- Transit improvements to support commuter access into NYC.
