Market Demographics

Local Market Overview

New Braunfels is one of the fastest-growing communities in Central Texas, strategically positioned between San Antonio and Austin along the I-35 corridor. The city benefits from strong population growth, a diversified employment base, and continued in-migration driven by affordability relative to nearby major metros. Its proximity to key transportation routes and access to a skilled regional labor pool support ongoing commercial and industrial demand.

The local economy is anchored by manufacturing, logistics, healthcare, and tourism, with major employers such as Caterpillar, Hunter Industries, and CHRISTUS Santa Rosa Health System contributing to stable job growth. Tourism remains a meaningful economic driver, supported by destinations like Schlitterbahn Waterpark, the Guadalupe and Comal Rivers, and a historic downtown that attracts year-round visitors.

Commercial real estate fundamentals remain favorable, with sustained demand for industrial and flex space, particularly from distribution and light manufacturing users serving the broader Central Texas region. Retail performance has been bolstered by population growth and expanding residential development, while limited supply in certain segments has supported steady rent growth. Overall, New Braunfels continues to position itself as a high-growth secondary market with long-term economic and real estate upside.

The healthcare and bioscience sector employs more than 180,000 residents, with major systems such as Methodist Healthcare, University Health, and UT Health San Antonio driving steady demand for medical office and clinical space. A significant military and veteran population further strengthens the city's healthcare base.

Population growth and an aging demographic continue to shape healthcare property needs. With more than 1.4 million residents and a median age near 35, San Antonio is seeing rising demand for outpatient and specialty care. Developers are targeting sites near hospital campuses and suburban corridors, where accessibility and modern infrastructure align with medical users' preferences.

The distinctions between different types of leases or within the same type of leases, such as "Bondable NNN," "Absolute NNN," "True NNN," or other NNN leases, are not always clear. Information About Brokerage Services

Texas law requires all real estate license holders to give the following information about brokerage services to prospective buyers, tenants, sellers and landlords.

11-2-2015

TYPES OF REAL ESTATE LICENSE HOLDERS:

- A BROKER is responsible for all brokerage activities, including acts performed by sales agents sponsored by the broker.
- A SALES AGENT must be sponsored by a broker and works with clients on behalf of the broker.

A BROKER'S MINIMUM DUTIES REQUIRED BY LAW (A client is the person or party that the broker represents):

- Put the interests of the client above all others, including the broker's own interests;
- Inform the client of any material information about the property or transaction received by the broker;
- Answer the client's questions and present any offer to or counter-offer from the client; and
- Treat all parties to a real estate transaction honestly and fairly.

A LICENSE HOLDER CAN REPRESENT A PARTY IN A REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION:

AS AGENT FOR OWNER (SELLER/LANDLORD): The broker becomes the property owner's agent through an agreement with the owner, usually in a written listing to sell or property management agreement. An owner's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the owner of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent or subagent by the buyer or buyer's agent.

AS AGENT FOR BUYER/TENANT: The broker becomes the buyer/tenant's agent by agreeing to represent the buyer, usually through a written representation agreement. A buyer's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the buyer of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent by the seller or seller's agent.

AS AGENT FOR BOTH - INTERMEDIARY: To act as an intermediary between the parties the broker must first obtain the written agreement of each party to the transaction. The written agreement must state who will pay the broker and, in conspicuous bold or underlined print, set forth the broker's obligations as an intermediary. A broker who acts as an intermediary:

- Must treat all parties to the transaction impartially and fairly;
- May, with the parties' written consent, appoint a different license holder associated with the broker to each party (owner and buyer) to communicate with, provide opinions and advice to, and carry out the instructions of each party to the transaction.
- Must not, unless specifically authorized in writing to do so by the party, disclose:
 - o that the owner will accept a price less than the written asking price;
 - o that the buyer/tenant will pay a price greater than the price submitted in a written offer; and
 - o any confidential information or any other information that a party specifically instructs the broker in writing not to disclose, unless required to do so by law.

AS SUBAGENT: A license holder acts as a subagent when aiding a buyer in a transaction without an agreement to represent the buyer. A subagent can assist the buyer but does not represent the buyer and must place the interests of the owner first.

TO AVOID DISPUTES, ALL AGREEMENTS BETWEEN YOU AND A BROKER SHOULD BE IN WRITING AND CLEARLY ESTABLISH:

- The broker's duties and responsibilities to you, and your obligations under the representation agreement.
- Who will pay the broker for services provided to you, when payment will be made and how the payment will be calculated.
