PROPERTY OVERVIEW

8222 Pershing Drive | Playa Del Rey, CA 90293

THE OPPORTUNITY

8222 Pershing Drive offers a rare chance to acquire a fully renovated, turn-key coastal duplex in the heart of Playa del Rey, one of Los Angeles' most sought-after beachside communities. Set on a residential street just a short walk to the sand, the property pairs strong in-place income with high-quality renovations and long-term demand drivers that are increasingly hard to find at this price point on the Westside.

The asset comprises two fully upgraded units totaling $\pm 2,296$ square feet on a 5,000 square foot LAR2-zoned lot: a spacious 3 bedroom / 2 bathroom residence and a well-appointed 2 bedroom / 2 bathroom residence. Both units have been extensively renovated with modern finishes and quality upgrades throughout, so buyers can step into a true turn-key investment with no near-term capital improvements anticipated. Both units are leased, with the 2 bedroom unit under lease through March 31, 2027 and the 3 bedroom unit through May 31, 2027, providing stable in-place income.

Outdoor space is a standout feature. The property includes a private backyard with an above-ground jacuzzi and a dedicated entertaining area, an amenity that consistently drives tenant demand in coastal rental markets. Playa del Rey's location also supports meaningful short- and mid-term rental premiums, adding further upside for an investor.

LOCATION HIGHLIGHTS

Playa del Rey benefits from a deep and diverse tenant and buyer pool, supported by proximity to LAX, the 90 and 105 freeway corridors, Silicon Beach employment hubs, and the beach itself. The submarket continues to attract both long-term renters and owner-users drawn to its coastal, small-town feel within minutes of major Westside demand drivers.

Notably, the adjacent duplex at 8218–8220 Pershing Drive is also available for sale under the same ownership, presenting a compelling portfolio acquisition opportunity for investors seeking to achieve scale in a supply-constrained coastal submarket.

Local Market Overview

The property is located in an established coastal neighborhood character, and proximity to major employment hubs across The Los Angeles Westside and greater metro area. Long-term demographic patterns and limited beachfront housing supply have supported steady residential demand, reinforced by strong household incomes and the continued appeal of Southern California coastal living. Housing demand remains shaped by constrained for-sale inventory and broader regional affordability challenges.

The subject property is located within a residential Playa del Rey neighborhood, offering convenient access to key coastal arterials and efficient connectivity throughout the Westside. Nearby corridors such as Vista Del Mar and Culver Boulevard provide access to employment centers, retail destinations, and beachfront amenities.

Playa del Rey Multifamily Performance

Multifamily investment activity in Playa del Rey strengthened in Q4 2025, reflecting sustained demand for coastal rental living and limited new supply. Trailing four-quarter sales volume reached $512 million through Q3 '25, up 38% YoY, with momentum carrying into year-end. Playa del Rey remains a supply-constrained submarket driven by strong rents, high occupancy, and proximity to major employment hubs and the beach.

Los Angeles is one of the most dynamic multifamily markets in the United States, supported by its scale, economic diversity, and consistent housing demand. The Playa del Rey submarket, where the subject property is located, benefits from strong housing demand driven by its coastal Westside location, affluent renter base, and proximity to major employment centers throughout Los Angeles. Residents are drawn to the neighborhood's blend of beach-adjacent living, walkability, and convenient access to Silicon Beach, Marina del Rey, Culver City, and LAX. Limited housing supply and high barriers to new development continue to support long-term rental demand and property appreciation across the area.

The surrounding neighborhood offers convenient access to major transportation corridors including Interstate 405, Lincoln Boulevard, and nearby transit connections serving the broader Westside and coastal markets. Playa del Rey continues to attract both renters and investors seeking access to high-income employment hubs, lifestyle amenities, and strong long-term market fundamentals. As affordability challenges persist throughout prime coastal Los Angeles neighborhoods, the submarket remains well-positioned to sustain renter demand and investment interest over time.
